TRIO NOW WINGING WAY OVER THE ATLANTIC ENROUTE TO AMERICA; UNDAUNTED BY OTHER RECENT TRAGIC FLIGHT ATTEMPTS—RECEIVE CHEERS AT THE TAKE-OFF

POOR WEATHER AWAITS GROUP NEAR THE U. S.

Sleet May Be Formed On Plane Owing To Rain And Cold

HIGH HOPES ARE HELD
Spirit of Three is One of Great Determination; All Are Confident

LONDON, April 12—(INS)—The trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen passed over Galway on the west coast of Ireland at 7.05 a. m. (English time) today, according to a Central News dispatch from Galway.

Undaunted by the recent tragic disappearance of the British fliers, Captain Hinchcliffe and Miss Mackay, the two German airmen and their Irish companion departed upon receiving the first favorable weather report in several weeks.

Captain Koehl handled the "joy-stick" of the plane at the take-off. Commandant Fitzmaurice, chief of the Irish Free State air force, who was to act as relief pilot, sat next to him in the cockpit. Von Huenefeld, who went along as observer, sat behind them between gas tanks.

While a crowd of several hundred soldiers on the field cheered, the heavily-loaded plane lifted gracefully from the field after a run of about a half a mile and headed westward. It gained altitude steadily and after a few minutes disappeared from view.

DUBLIN, April 12—(INS)—Determined to be the first to span the Atlantic Ocean in a westward flight, Captain Herman Koehl, commandant James E. Fitzmaurice, and Baron Ehrenfried von Huenefeld, hopped off from the Baldonnel airfield for America in the Junkers monoplane Bremen at 5.38 a. m. today.

All three fliers were confident that they would succeed in their venture. They smiled and waved from the plane as they started.

President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State shook hands with them before they entered the plane and wished them Godspeed.

After weeks of reports of miserable weather over the Atlantic, the fliers were greatly elated last night when they learned that conditions as far west as the mid-Atlantic were perfect for a trans-Atlantic flight. At nine o'clock, it was announced that the hop-off would be made at dawn today.

The plane was wheeled from its hangar at about three-thirty a. m. this morning and given a final inspection. It was found to be in perfect condition. A cordon of soldiers was strung about it to ward off the curious.

At dawn, Koehl and his companions came on the field smiling broadly and showing little nervousness. Von Huenefeld was happy as a youngster and pointed to the sun breaking through the clouds, meanwhile slapping Koehl on the back.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 12—(INS)—Poor weather conditions await the three fliers who are now attempting a westward trans-Atlantic flight from Baldonnel airfield to America in their Junkers monoplane Bremen.

Strong southerly winds were blowing off the coasts of Nova Scotia and Newfoundland this morning. A heavy rain was falling and the temperature was low.

Weather forecasts further indicated that the winds probably would increase to gale proportions and the rain would continue.

It is feared that the combination of rain and low temperatures will cause the formation of sleet on the wings of the plane.

DELIGHTFUL COMEDY TO BE SHOWN TONIGHT

Cast Appears As Professionals—Musical Numbers Of Fine Quality

ORCHESTRAL NUMBERS

The curtain rises at 8.15 this evening at the Grand theatre on the first performance of "That's That," the super-musical comedy being presented by the Bristol high school students.

A company of students, principals and chorus groups, are to present this delightful comedy of music, song, love and youth. Every member of the cast is a resident of Bristol or vicinity, and many of them have appeared in previous productions of Bristol High. The show is divided into two parts, both of which are scenes at Palm Beach, where romance is supposed to reign supreme.

This delightful comedy has everything required in the way of catchy numbers, brilliant costumes, gorgeous scenery, beautifully colored lighting effects and clever dancing together with a well-trained variety of chorus groups and a professional-appearing cast. The sale of tickets has been exceptional and the seat reservation heavy. Indications are that tonight's performance will be the most popular and finest of any ever attempted here.

The musical numbers follow: Act One—"Down Where the Palm Trees Grow," ensemble; "Just A Little Bit More," Letitia and chorus; "Maybe Lady Luck Will Smile On Me," Kenneth and chorus; "Down By the Winegar Woiks," Mickey, Mamie and chorus; "The Dreams That I Dreamed About You," Kenneth and Eloise; "Today When I Met You," Nanette and Martin; "The Social Whirl," Letitia and chorus.

Act Two—"What's Become of the Chaparrone," Mrs. Sutherland and chorus; "When Two Fellows Love A Girl," Martin and Eloise; "That's That," Mamie, Mickey and Eddie; "Put Me Among the Stars," Nanette and the Stags; "Where the Old Mill Wheel Turns 'Round," Letitia, Eddie and chorus; grand finale, ensemble. Miss Hilda MacArthur is the pianist.

The cast includes 133 pupils of Bristol high school, and these have made remarkable progress under the direction of Miss B. Vivian Taylor, a representative of the John B. Rogers Producing Company.

The orchestra consists of: Violins—William Shields, Edwin Arensmeyer, Mary Amole; saxophone, Harold Coon; cornet, Howard Fabian; drums, Harold Hanson.

PIGGERIE OWNERS PAY FINES AND COSTS FOR LAW VIOLATION

Bensalem Township Residents Hauled Before Justice Of the Peace

BECOME A NUISANCE

Must Cease Violation or Other Arrests Are To Follow

Fines and costs amounting to approximately $160 were imposed yesterday upon operators of piggeries in Bensalem township where wholesale law violation of the state health laws has been going on for some time.

Six piggery owners were arrested last week by Anthony Russo, of Bristol, officer of the Pennsylvania State Health Department. The cases were prosecuted by Hiram H. Keller, former District Attorney of Bucks county, who has been appointed by the Health Department to take action against the owners.

Hearings were held before Justice of the Peace W. Carlisle Hobensack at Doylestown. In one case, charges against a defendant, James Morrow, were withdrawn, when he announced that he had gone out of the pig business for good and was closing his place.

The piggeries are located off the Lincoln Highway in Bensalem township. Scores of complaints have been registered during the past year or more that Bensalem township is the dumping ground for Philadelphia garbage and that it is taken daily to the piggeries in that section.

Yesterday's action is the start of a drive that will be carried out until every piggery in the county is either eliminated or complies with the state health regulations 100 per cent.

Officer Russo announced that the men would be given a fair chance and asked that Justice Hobensack not impose the maximum fine in the cases this time, but warned the owners that if the nuisance was not abated and the law carried out, they would be arrested every day and taken to Doylestown.

The following piggery operators were fined by Justice Hobensack: Benny Mamiotka, $20 and costs; Walter Kovaski, $30 and costs; Simon Dutkiewicz, $10 and costs; Stanley Ragola, $20 and costs; Frank Samsel, $10 and costs. The costs in each case amounted to $13.90.

The defendants were charged with many violations of the law and could have been fined heavily. Among the offenses charged were throwing and depositing garbage and other decaying matter and organic waste substance upon the surface of the ground and permitting the same to remain exposed; failure to have and properly maintain an adequate water supply for the purpose of keeping the pens and piggeries clean and sanitary; failure to keep floors of piggeries constructed of concrete or other impervious material and to have adequate provision for drainage to a cesspool and sewer and treatment works approved by the health department; failure to make daily removal and disposal by burial or incineration of all unconsumed garbage and not properly removing unconsumed garbage, but allowing it to remain exposed; failure to handle the garbage and feed the same upon platforms of concrete or other impervious material and failure to use unslacked lime and other chemicals in sufficient quantities to prevent offensive odors and breeding of flies.

BRISTOL HIGH WINS OPENING BALL GAME

Local Nine Defeats Yardley By the Score of 10 to 2

GAME LOOSELY PLAYED

By T. M. Juno

Bristol High School's baseball team won the opening game of the season here yesterday when they took the Yardley High School into camp by the score of 10 to 2.

The game was closely played until the closing innings when Bristol's batting artillery opened up and clinched the game. Cold weather caused the game to be loosely played.

"Blushing" Earl Wright started on the peak for the local high school and was found for two runs. Three walks and two errors made the runs possible.

"Mike" De Risi and "Jake" Tranotti divided the next four innings. DeRisi did not allow a hit while Tranotti was nipped for a bingle.

"Hokey" Leighton was on the job in the final inning. Heffern solved him for a three-base hit.

"Les" Satterthwaite attributed two of Bristol's five hits and turned out to be the hitting star of the game. "Dea" Still's work on the defense was very impressive.

Yardley opened the scoring by counting two in the first. Robins was safe on Lynn's error; Heffern walked, Grame did likewise, Leedom hit to B. Still and Robins was out at the plate. Delgardia was safe on a forced play, but Heffern went out at the plate.

On Strumf's error of Cadwallader's grounder, Grame and Leedom scored. Margerum received a base on ball but Barnett ended the going by flying to B. Still.

Bristol quickly forged ahead in their half. David walked and stole second and third. B. Still went out, David scoring; Strumfels walked and stole second, Satterthwaite's fourth ball was wide and Strumfels took third, where he scored on a pass ball, Satterthwaite advancing to third. Hansen sacrificed Satterthwaite home. DeRisi ended the inning by fanning.

No further scoring was done until the Bristol half of the fourth inning. De Risi was safe on an error and scored on infield outs.

The Cardinal and Gray team added two more in the fifth. Two errors aided by hits from the clubs of Hansen and Satterthwaite accounted for the tallies.

The local team scored again in the sixth. Lynn's walk, Leighton's three-bagger, an error, a walk, and a hit batmen earned four runs.

Heffern made a three-base hit for Yardley in the final stanza but tried to stretch it and was out at the plate.

Bristol plays its second game of the season here on Friday when Newtown will be the visitors.

BRIDGE TO MARK CROSSING OF RIVER BY WASHINGTON

Joint Commission to Request Federal Government To Construct Span

WOULD COST $5,000,000

Thirteen Arches to Represent The Thirteen Original States

A request to the Federal Government to erect a memorial bridge across the Delaware River at Washington Crossing Park was decided upon yesterday afternoon at a joint meeting of the Pennsylvania Washington Crossing Park Commission and the Department of Conservation and Development of the State of New Jersey.

This, and the fact that the two states have so much in common, which should be developed by a spirit of co-operation between the two commonwealths, were the outstanding accomplishments of a joint meeting of the two bodies.

The members of the Washington Crossing Park Commission of Pennsylvania and Arthur P. Townsend, of Langhorne, budget secretary representing Governor John S. Fisher, were the guests of Governor A. Harry Moore, and the Department of Conservation and Development of the State of New Jersey, at a luncheon and a joint meeting held at the Stacy-Trent Hotel in Trenton.

Previous to the joint meeting the Washington Crossing Park Commission met in special session and adopted resolutions expressing the commission's sorrow at the death of its President, J. Harman Yerkes. Ex-Judge Yerkes was one of the original members of the Commission and served until the time of his death a few weeks ago. He was first appointed in 1917 by Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh. He received successive appointments from Governors Sproul, Pinchot and Fisher.

At the meeting yesterday Allan W. Hagenbach, of Allentown, was elected President to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Yerkes. Mr. Hagenbach is one of the original members of the commission and was named a member of the body at the same time that his predecessor in office received his appointment.

J. Harman Yerkes was the first and only president of the Commission up to the time of his death, and during his term he never missed a meeting. Previous to the time when the Washington Crossing Park Commission had its inception, Mr. Yerkes was president of the Washington Crossing Society from the date of its organization in 1912. This society was instrumental in interesting Pennsylvania in naming a commission to properly commemorate the events leading up to the crossing of the Delaware River by the half-starved and half-clothed Continental soldiers.

At the joint meeting of the Pennsylvania and New Jersey bodies yesterday there was a general sentiment of close co-operation between the two states and the opinion was that each state should continue to develop its individual parks in their own way. It was jointly agreed that a request should be made to the Federal Government to build a thirteen arch memorial bridge over the Delaware River, each arch to represent one of the original states. The two bodies also agreed further to work with the Regional Planning Commission in the interest of a boulevard extending from Princeton, N. J., to Washington Crossing Park thence to follow the new state highway from Washington Crossing Park to Philadelphia.

It was decided that the aid of congressmen and U. S. Senators of the respective districts should be solicited to co-operate and arrange to present the necessary legislation for adequate appropriations for the memorial bridge. It is estimated that the bridge will cost approximately $5,000,000. H. B. Kummel was named secretary of the committee which is to further this project.

Governor Moore of New Jersey, in addressing the gathering, stressed the value of close co-operation and the common interests of the two states, such as regional planning, tri-state water pacts and conservation of the Delaware River.

Governor Fisher of Pennsylvania had been invited to the conference, but was unable to attend due to the press of the state's business. He delegated Arthur P. Townsend, of Langhorne, his budget secretary, to represent him at the meeting. Other Pennsylvanians in attendance were:

W. Clayton Hackett, Easton; Allan W. Hagenbach, Allentown; Samuel C. Eastburn, Langhorne; Edwin B. Malone, Washington Crossing; Henry Y. Pickering, Yardley; William D. Ridge, 1 way, Beth Ayres; Thomas Scott, Bristol; Ernest H. Harvey, Langhorne. New Jersey representatives present were:

WE GENERALLY MAKE THE BEST

Americans are the only people in the world who habitually boost the goods of their foreign competitors. The American merchant displaying an article says: "Fine stuff; fine stuff, imported."

The customer feels flattered. He has been sized up to be a man who would demand the best. He would not be content with ordinary domestic goods. When he shows his purchase to his friends, he says with pride, "Best there is in the market; it's imported."

The women help along the same sort of propaganda. The saleslady says, "This is the very latest thing, right from Paris." Or, "Isn't this just absolutely correct? It's all the go with the 'bright younger set' in London this season. Imported, you know."

But there is no reciprocity in the matter on the part of Europeans. Britons, Germans and Frenchmen keep up a constant exhortation to buy goods made at home. "British Goods Are Best," is dinged into the ears and kept before the eyes of the English people constantly. Germany has a complete array of slogans voicing the sentiment that he who buys foreign goods takes the bread from German workmen and their families.

It is a fine tribute to the quality of American products that in the face of such competition and even opposition, American-made goods find sale in foreign markets and American exports are increasing. The department of commerce of the United States in a recent report says 70 per cent of the total sales of foreign cars in Germany are those of American make.

It could do no harm to American business if in some way the American people could be made to understand that goods are not always better because they are imported, and that most things made in the United States are the best in the world.

MAN: ETERNAL GRUMBLER

There is an old legend of a French peasant plowing in the field and cursing and complaining as he went. Suddenly "le Bon Dieu" appeared in the field and asked him why he was troubled. The beasts were tired, they made no headway. The Almighty took the plow and the furrows appeared as if by magic. Sadly shaking his head the plowman grumbled, "My seed is poor." In a flash the seed was converted into the best. "But if there is bad weather all this fine seed will be wasted," sorrowed the peasant. God gave him two bottles, one filled with sunshine, the other with rain, and the farmer's harvest was the best in the land when God appeared to him a second time in the fall. "I will probably pay for this good fortune next year with a poor crop," scolded the peasant when the Master asked him why he was still troubled. "But I will bless you again," the Eternal One reassured him. "If all the crops are good the price will go down," was the last word of the peasant.

Obviously this is not the only age in which the peasant is pictured as a grumbling, grouchy and greedy fellow. Peasant manners must have suggested the legend centuries ago and, since the manuscript of the legend was only recently discovered, something other than the legend has kept alive this early impression of the peasant attitude toward life.

It doesn't matter how beautiful your girl's complexion is, don't wear it on your lapel.

The Cantor, discovering his son's profession, disowns him. Jack's show opens the Eve of Yom Kippur. Billings, the backer of the show, tells Mary's love for Jack, with draws his money, leaving Lee, the producer, dependent on Jack for success. Yudelzon, the Cantor's friend, comes to tell Jack that his father is ill and asks him to sing in the synagogue that night. Jack refuses because of Mary's and Lee's belief in him.

"Mr. Yudelzon—Mr. Yudelzon, did you find Jackie? Is all right, no?" her voice rose in her eagerness and excitement.

"Yeh, I found Jackie," Yudelzon answered sorrowfully, "but he says I should explain he can't come tonight."

"Oh, oh, oh, Mr. Rabinowitz moaned, sinking into a chair. "He can't come—Jackie can't come. Did you explain him his papa is sick?" She tried to gather her wits about her and understand this strange situation. For a brief moment she thought it possible that Jackie might not have understood.

"Sure, I explained him," Yudelzon nodded. "But he says what he acts tonight in a show what costs two hundred thousand dollars, and his boss won't let him go."

"In the theater—and his papa is maybe dying yet!" Mrs. Rabinowitz shook her head mournfully, utterly incapable of absorbing this.

She sat down on the chair and took his hand.

entirely new and strange idea. "Maybe he comes yet tonight when his boss shouldn't see him?" she suggested hopefully.

Yudelzon shrugged his shoulders. "Nein, nein, Mrs. Rabinowitz," he despaired, "Jackie sings by the theater tonight. He ain't coming to the Synagogue."

The two sat and stared disconsolately at each other. Mrs. Rabinowitz was trying to turn the matter over in her dazed mind. She was certain that she must do something. If Jackie would only come she knew that the Cantor would rally to some extent. His illness was not purely physical—it was mental; it was the worry, the heartache, the blow that he had received when he found that his own son was singing jazz songs in the theater. If the Cantor could only once hear his boy's voice in the Synagogue! She attempted vainly to plan some solution—some way out. But she could only moan and wipe the tears from her already reddened eyes.

Yudelzon felt that he had rather got himself into a precarious position. Hadn't he been the one to urge the committee to accept Jackie as Cantor for that evening? He had made many promises of Jackie's prowess as a singer in the synagogue. He had said that all he had to do was find Jackie and the boy would come willingly—gladly. And now all his plans had failed. He'd have to face the committee with no singer for that night—and every moment ticking off the clock brought sundown and the services nearer. If Levy sang—Yudelzon shuddered at the thought.

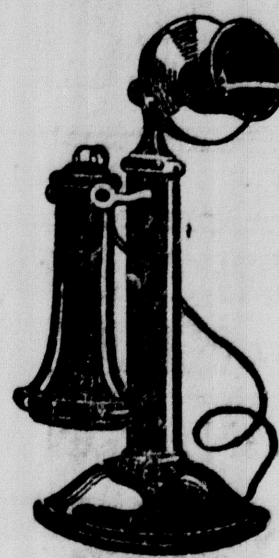

Mrs. Rabinowitz got up and moved slowly toward the Cantor's room. She didn't trust nurses to see that he had everything he wanted. She felt that the most she could do was to minister with her own hands. Yudelzon still swayed back and forth in his chair, but his meditations were interrupted by a neighbor woman who came out of the kitchen, a broom in her hands. On seeing Yudelzon there she immediately broke out into a stream of Yiddish, asking whether the Cantor were better. Yudelzon tried to affect a facetious manner to hide his grief.

Mrs. William Barrett, of Trenton, N. J., was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson, of Radcliffe street.

—Elwood Britton, of Riverview avenue, and Miss Mildred Coulthard, of Woodside avenue, spent Easter Sunday as the guests of Miss Coulthard's cousin, Miss Elizabeth Turnbull, of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller and son, Toddie, of Olney, spent Saturday with Mrs. Mattie McGuire, of Radcliffe street.

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Guild of St. Paul's Chapel was held on Wednesday afternoon of this week.

Over the Uniontown Hill

with a long, long lead

1929 Performance that you can have Today

Thirty miles south of Pittsburgh, the old National Highway climbs up over the backbone of the Alleghenys—the famous Uniontown Hill.

It's a heartbreaker—this Uniontown Hill. And it's the hill of hills to which all motordom goes for the final proof of a car's fitness after the easier tests on private proving grounds have been completed.

To this hill, Reo engineers went recently to test the new Flying Cloud. With the Flying Cloud went a number of the country's best known automobiles—a six, the greatest seller in its class, another which has won a unique record for increasing popularity, a third of recognized great engine power, and still another considerably higher in price than the others.

Here are the results of the Uniontown tests:

- 1 The Flying Cloud swept over the crest at a speed 22 per cent greater than that of its nearest rival, and sixty per cent faster than the most expensive of the cars tested.
- 2 The Flying Cloud made the entire climb of 1000 feet in 2.1 miles in from 14 per cent to 28.5 per cent less time than any of the others.
- 3 The Flying Cloud's maximum speed attained during the climb was 14 per cent greater than that of the next fastest car.

Speed Too!

Here assuredly is proof of greater power—and power that gives great speed on the straight-away. In speed trials, the Flying Cloud showed a clean pair of heels to all of the other cars tested. The car that came the closest to the Flying Cloud in the hill-climbing tests was the slowest on the level, while the car that was second to the Flying Cloud in top speed had been the slowest in hill climbing. . . . The new Reo Flying Cloud thus proves itself in both speed and hill-climbing. Others may achieve such efficiency in another year, but for today only the Flying Cloud gives you such demonstrated brilliance, such proved power. Try the new Flying Cloud for yourself. It will prove to you how far in advance it is.

Man So Nervous Gets Sore When Spoken To

"It actually irritated me to have anyone talk to me, I was so nervous. Vinol ended this and I feel wonderful now."—Wm. Fahy.

Vinol is a compound of iron, phosphates, cod liver peptone, etc. The very FIRST bottle makes you sleep better and have a BIG appetite. Nervous, easily tired people are surprised how QUICK the iron, phosphates, etc., give new life and pep. Vinol tastes delicious. Harry H. Headley, Druggist.—(Adv.)

Bridge To Mark Crossing Of River By Washington

Kummel, State Forester Charles P. Wilber, Engineers C. C. Vermuele and H. T. Critchlow.

The Washington Crossing Society of Pennsylvania held its first meeting in January, 1912. Activities of this society resulted in the enactment of legislation in 1917 creating the Washington Crossing Park.

Under the laws of the commonwealth, the Act of 1917 provided that the Washington Crossing Park Commission be created for the purpose of perpetuating and preserving the site on which the continental army, under the command of General George Washington, was assembled and from which they crossed the river Delaware on the night preceding the battle of Trenton, December 25, 1776. The amount of land to be purchased was limited to 590 acres, the location and boundaries to be fixed by the commissioners, said grounds to be laid out, preserved and maintained forever as a public park, to be known as Washington Crossing Park, so that these historic sites may be preserved for the enjoyment of the people of the state.

Washington Crossing Park has an authorized total acreage of 590, total acreage acquired, 332.5; total cost, $190,970; total expenditure for improvements, $255,000; total appropriation since 1917, $446,000.
